NEW PASTOR URGES UNITY IN SERVICE

THE REV. B. F. CLINE PREACHES AT UNION SERVICE

DIFFERENCES CHILDISH

Would Preach Purity of Life More And Purity of Doctrine Less, He Says

Preaching to the united congregations of the five protestant churches of Maryville, the Rev. B. F. Cline, pastor of the Buchanan Street Methodist Church, last night made an appeal for unity of faith and knowledge, with the ability to forget denominational lines when necessary in the one great common cause. This, he said, is the goal of Christian progress.

Every seat in the church was taken as the services welcoming the new pastor began. The pastor of the four other churches and the Rev. Frank J. Mapel, president of the Ministerial Alliance, took part in the services, the latter extending the official welcome.

"Christianity is ever a progressive system of religion," said the new minister; "a great school of spiritual education. Its graduation standard is unity: 'one spirit, one faith, one Lord, one baptism.'

"Paul recognizes the divérsities of gifts which are capable of working either good or evil. Great ability and feeling of superiority often go together, but their real purpose is to lift the inferior to a higher plane of life.

"The real purpose of church doctrines and creeds is to develop strength in men to do without them. Not that we are to cast aside the great doctrines of our churches, for we believe that a man's denominational convictions are essential to service to humanity for the glory of his best Christian experience. But in God, we be able to leave them for the sake of the one great Common Cause.

"An old Scotch minister said: 'The street I am now traveling has nae sides, and if power were now given me, I would preach purity of life more and purity of doctrine less. Since I was laid by here, I have heard whisperings of the still small voice telling me that the wranglings of faith will ne'er be herd in the kingdom I am nearing; and, as love cements all differences, I'll perhaps find the place roomier than I thought in times past.'

"God's calling involves a unity of life, "the unity of the faith and knowledge of the Son of God' not a union of faith with knowledge, but a union on the part of man in regard to faith and knowledge of the Son of God. Christianity's goal is unity of faith, but human life is full of divergencies, and what we see in individuals we see also in churches in different localities and at different times.

"Christian progress also aims at a unity of the knowledge of the truth, but not knowledge that marks the differences of opinion that have separated Christians and Christian institutions. These differences of ours belong to the childhood of the church; they are kindergarten teachings and before we become a 'full grown man' we must put away childish things. These differences are signs of imperfection rather than 'the steadfastness of our faith.'

"As representatives of Christ in Maryville may we join hands together for the common good of humanity and the glory of the Kingdom? May we receive and obey orders from the great Generalissimo.

"England, France, Italy, ect., fighting independently of each other were driving towards a German victory. But with a generalissimo to guide and direct the allied armies was a great victory for the world.

"Hence, each church is a great army in itself but to gain the victory for righteousness we must follow Christ, the Generalissimo of the allied ranks."

PAROLE ON PENITENTIARY SENTENCE FOR GOOD CAUSE SHOWN

R. F. JOHNSON FINED $100

Four Burlington Junction Boys Fined $25 Apiece for Stealing Water-Mellons

Dudley Joy of Ravenwood was given a fine of $100 and a sentence of two years in the penitentiary, when he pleaded guilty in Circuit Court this morning to a charge of carrying concealed weapons. For good cause shown the court paroled Joy as to the penitentiary sentence, upon the condition that he pay the fine, let liquor alone and attend church each Sunday unless sickness or bad weather interferes.

Joy was intoxicated at the Ravenwood picnic and attempted to use his gun. Witnesses testified that he bears a good reputation except when he is drinking and then he has no control over himself. Joy was said to have partaken of too much corn liquor at the picnic. The court admonished Joy that "firewater and firearms don't mix."

R. P. Johnson pleaded guilty to the charge of possessing intoxicating liquor and was fined $100. Johnson was arrested in Maryville on Centennial celebration day with nearly a quart of liquor with him. He said he had paid $5 for the quart bottle which contained corn whisky. The city of Maryville fined Johnson $100 on the same charge. Johnson is a barber at Skidmore.

On recommendation of the prosecuting attorney, Johnson was paroled on payment of all costs and $25 of the fine.

Four boys—Oscar Ashbrook, Lester Brittain, Asa Ginter and Lester Reynolds pleaded guilty to stealing watermelons from the patch of James Spangler near Burlington Junction and were fined $25 apiece. Spangler stated he did not mind the stealing of the four watermelons so much as the boys damaging and destroying the watermelon patch. Ashbrook had been before the court before on a petit larceny charge.

The first jury case started to trial this afternoon, being that of the State vs. John V. Smith on a charge of pulling down a fence.

The prosecuting attorney dismissed the following cases: Joseph N. Graves bogus check; Charles Irwin, asault and battery; Joseph H. Aufiart, false pretence; Morgan Still and Harry Miller petit larceny.. William Kennedy, assault.

The cases against William J. Older and Eugene Kaufman were dismissed by the prosecuting attorney.

The case of the state vs. Neil McKinnon was stricken from the docket.

PAY LAST TRIBUTE TO THREE SOLDIERS

IRA McCOLLUM IS BURIED AT SHERIDAN.

DOUBLE RITES TODAY

Impressive Services are Held at Conception for Alfred Meyer and Joseph Schwebach.

Last funeral services were held yesterday afternoon and this morning for three more of Nodaway county's boys who died overseas and whose bodies have been sent home for burial. Services were held yesterday at Sheridan for Ira J. McCollum and this morning at Conception for Alfred Meyer and Joseph Schwebach. The Seth Ray David Post of the Veterans of Foreign Wars had charge of the military rites at both services.

Services were held at the McCollum home, near Sheridan, and in the park in Sheridan, the Rev. J. A. Cooper, pastor of the First Baptist church of Maryville, making the address from the bandstand . The body was then escorted to the cemetery at Isadora, where military rites were held at the grave.

The pallbearers were Alva Dickey, Chester Logan, Earl Hines, Walter Mason, Roy Curry and Dr. J. W. Nigh. F. M. Miller and Jack Pennington were color bearers and Hannibal Wright and Henderson Aley color guards. The firing squad, commanded by Robert Garten, was composed of Halley Bradley, Pete Warren, Benjamin Hale, Francis Cummins, Pierre Karr, Charles Wiles, Orville Ziegler and Alva Roseler. James Meeks was bugler. Among those in the guard of honor were Garland Hedrick, Ezra McMulin, Rufus Lawson, Ray O'Grady, Wayne Brown, Thaddeus Danford, John Prather, Obed Oglesby, Ed Kendall and Ed Condon.

Ira J. McCollum was born near Wichita, in Sedkwick county, Kan., May 6, 1888. He moved from there with his parents to Missouri in 1896, where he resided previous to his departure from Camp Funston for France in April, 1918.

He was killed in action in the Argonne drive September 29, 1918.

He leaves to mourn his loss his father, and mother, Mr. and Mrs. John McCollum, two brothers, Clarence of Burlington Junction and Charley at home; three sisters, Mrs. Lola Wymore, Hennesey, Okla.; Mrs. Dollie Courter, and Anna McCollum of Gallatin; other relatives and a host of friends.

At Conception this morning, the services began with a soldiers' parade to and from the Cemetery Chapel to the Abbey Church. The procession was headed by flag bearer and band, followed by bugler and drummer, soldier pallbearers, firing squad and other soldiers, in charge of a sergeant. Arriving at the cemetery chapel, the remains were blessed by the pastor, after which the parade returned to the church, the band playing a slow funeral march.

At the entrance of the church the chaplain with cross bearer and altar boys met the remains, and the parade, followed by the people, entered the church.

In the church during mass, t he soldiers took seats behind the children's seats, the relatives behind the soldiers and the rest of the people in the remaining seats. The firing squad, occupying on each side of the middle aisle the first seat in front of the children's seats, on both side of the caskets, rose and presented arms at the command of the chaplain during Elevation and Communion. The mass was sung by the Rev. Fr. Frowin O. S. B.

After the solemn requiem the funeral sermon was preached by the Rev. Fr. Richard, O. S. B. The chaplain, the Rev. Fr. Ambrose, O. S. B., said the usual prayers, after which the parade to the cemetery was formed with the cross bearer and altar boys leading, followed by the flag bearer with bugler and drummer, the band, the choir, and clergy, the chaplain, the pallbearers with the remains, the firing squad, the sergeant with his company, t he relatives, school children, with those from St. Mary's school, to which the dead soldiers belonged, first, then the rest of the people, men first, women last, all praying.

The Seth Ray David Post of the Veterans of Foreign Wars, assisted by the Stanberry post of the American Legion, had charge of the ceremonies at the grave. At the head of the graves stood the cross bearer and flag bearer, on one side of them the bugler, on the other side the drummer. At the foot of the grave, t he chaplains stood between the altar boys, with the band on one side of them and the choir and clergy on the other, behind the chaplain, then the relatives. Three pallbearers stood on each side of the grave, with the firing squad on the south side of the grave, facing north. The company of soldiers lined up in double file behind the bugler and drummer. The chaplain finished the church ceremonies as usual. The military ceremonial was then conducted by the soldiers, with the Rev. J. A. Cooper of Maryville acting as chaplain.

WILL SPEND MONEY ON THREE PROJECTS

COUNTY COURT APPORTIONS ROAD MONEY DUE FROM STATE

TO START WORK AT ONCE

Burlington Junction Road Will Be Changed—Hopkins Road Gets $6,200.

The county court, in conference this afternoon with A. C. Lingley, divisional highway engineer, apportioned the remaining amount of money due this county under the Morgan-McCullough road law to be spent on three road projects. The total amount available is $40,200.

The amount for each project and the road selected follows:

$23,000 on the road near Doll Nicholas' farm, two and a half miles southeast of Burlington Junction, extending east across Sand Creek and to a point just east of Lone Tree school house. Near the Nicholas farm a new road will be built just north of the railroad track so that it will not be necessary to cross the track twice. The county court agrees to build a 45-foot steel bridge over Sand Creek. When this work is completed, it will make it the principal road between Maryville and Burlington Junction. It will leave the present route at the southwest corner of the O. F. Wilson farm, extending one mile west and then one mile north.

$6,200 on a road starting near the Carl McArthur farm on the Pickering-Hopkins road, extending south to the bridge passing the narrows. This road work will be three-fourths of a mile long, and will join onto the work now being done to the north of the McArthur place, where 1.7 miles are being worked under direction of the state at a cost of $10,188.

$11,000 on the road near the Davis school house and the Sam Icke farm, south of Maryville. Hills will be cut down and cement culverts put in here.

Mr. Lingley expects to get work started on these three projects withia the next thirty days. Bids for the work will be received soon in order that work can be started before winter.

Mrs. Lewis King and family have returned to their home in Stanberry after being called to Maryville by the illness and death of their grandson and nephew, Walter Gay Gross.

SEES NO PANACEA FOR UNEMPLOYMENT

HARDING SAYS RELIEF CANNOT COME FROM PUBLIC TREASURY

A REACTION FROM WAR

Reason Is Needed For Safe Counsel In Time of Readjustment President Says

Washington, Sept. 26—"Though employment is the most serious problem confronting the United States it must not be remedied by any method which seeks either palliation or tonic from the public treasury," President Harding declared today when he opened the national unemployment conference.

"Fundamentally sound financially, strong industrially, unimpaired commercially, consistent and politically unafraid, there ought to be work for everybody in the United States who chooses to work," the president stated. "And our condition at home and our place in the world depends on everybody going to work and pursuing it with patriotism and devotion, which makes for a fortunate and happy people.

"We saw the industrial call to arms which marshalled the family as well as accustomed bread winners. We saw the spiritual, mental and physical might of the people as the scales measuring the Republic. From such test there is an inevitable reaction. With the world involved, there is no escape for any of the world from the valleys of depression. Liquidation, reorganization, readjustment, re-establishment, taking account of things to be done, the finding of firm ground and the open, sure and onward way—all of these are part of the inevitable, and he who thinks he might have them avoided by this plan or that only offers delusion, when reason is needed for safe counsel."

FIRST BALLOT OPENED DECLARES FOR STRIKE

Chicago, Sept. 26.—A strike of 186,000 railway trainmen loomed today, when strike ballots cast by the brotherhood of railway trainmen began pouring in as the vice-presidents of the organization convened to count them. The first ballot opened was for a strike.

"It will take three days to count the votes," declared James Murdock, vice president of the organization, serving in the illness of W. G. Lee, who will arrive Wednesday to announce the final results.

LARGEST CIRCULATION IN NODAWAY COUNTY

HOUSE WILL MARK TIME WHILE SENATE CATCHES UP

Will Take Three-Day Recesses Until October—Important Bills Still In Committee

Washington, Sept. 26.—Only a handful of members have been present at the sessions of the House of Representatives since it reconvened last week after its recess. The House is merely marking time until legislation already passed by the House is acted upon in the Senate or until important bills now in committee are reported.

A "gentleman's agreement" stood in the way of ascertainment of attendance, because it blocked any roll call and the transaction of any business by the House until October.

Perfunctorily the House met, because the Senate was in a snarl over the Anti-Beer bill when recess was taken, and the House could not get the longer recess which it craved. There was an opening prayer by Chaplain Montgomery that all legislation the House should enact would prove wise, a reading of the August 24 journal of proceedings and a three day recess. These three-day recesses by the House will continue until October.

Returning members are anxious to see the tax and tariff legislation enacted into law and are awaiting impatiently final action on both bills by the Senate. The House calendars are free of important business. A few bills of general importance are before committees, but House leaders would not protest if all these bills should remain in committee until the general session, beginning in December.

Among these bills are the Maternity bill, providing Federal aid for mothers and infants, the Selective Immigration bill, providing for the weeding out of undesirable would-be immigrants before they leave their home country, an International Monetary Conference bill, providing for a currency stabilization conference between the United States, England and France, and a few others.

Expect Good Roads Agreement

A Good Roads bill passed the Senate in the closing hours before the recess and is waiting to be taken up in the House. The bill carries an appropriation of $75,000,000 carried over a period of five years for State road building, conditioned on the State meeting the Federal contribution in cash, on State maintenance and agreement as to standardization of width of roads.

It is probable that the Senate bill will be sent to the House Roads Committee for consideration. It differs in important particulars from similar legislation adopted by the House especially in the matter of Federal cooperation in the standardization of the roads. An agreement on the legislation is expected before adjournment of the special session of Congress because of the pressure from States that will benefit heavily and the presure for public works to provide employment for the unemployed.

Budget to Be Prepared

Early next month the House Appropriation Committee will get busy with the national budget for the fiscal year beginning July 1 next, and start the preparation of the fourteen great supply bills providing funds for the various executive departments and Government bureaus and agencies. This will be a more difficult task than formerly, because the House will put into force and effect the new budget system, which places responsibility for all estimates on the President, who acts through a Director of the Budget, and responsibility for expenditures on a Comptroller General.

While the Director of the Budget is influential in regulating the estimates of necessary appropriations for governmental uses and purposes, the Appropriations Committees of House and Senate and Congress have final jurisdiction and authority.

"A tailor's life is one of great temptation," said the man who runs a clothing pressing and repairing establishment on upper Broadway. "Few people realize how many valuables and the quantity of currency come into a tailor's possession through the negligence of his customers. A man sending his suit to the tailor just does not seem to be able to remove everything from the pockets. In the last year I have found everything from an indorsed check for $500 to a bottle of a once common beverage. Among other things that have come into this shop in the pockets of men's clothes in the past year are currency, police passes, stocks, bonds and other valuable securities, enough cigarette cases to start a shop of my own, matches, coupons, handkerchiefs, fountain pens, pencils, fraternity pins, lodge buttons, wallets, card cases, watches, knives, and scores of other such articles which men commonly carry."—New York Sun.

Concrete Boats in Italy.

Some years ago there was first broached the question of using concrete for shipbuilding, and since that time there have been many successful and practical applications of this idea. Indeed, the inventor Gabellini has succeeded in inducing the Italian government to adopt it for certain purposes connected with the navy. These boats have double skins and water-tight compartments, and, being craft of about 100 tons each, are able to withstand shocks by collision to a surprising extent. Their draft is little more than that of wooden vessels of the same size. A special advantage is that they neither rot nor rust; and they are easily kept clean. Many canal barges of the same material are in use in Italy; and concrete has been found particularly well adapted for the constructing docks and cassions.

Fish Choked Water Main.

James Littlefield of Dover, N. H., blamed the decreased pressure in the water main to the drought, but discovered the real reason when the hose with which he was watering his lawn began to squirt little fishes. The strainers over the outlets in the reservoir had disappeared, allowing the finny creatures the freedom of the city.

CHICAGO'S POLICE CHIEF SAYS DRT LAW IS FARCE

Wholesale Dismissals are Expected in Effort to Stop Sales of Booze by Policemen.

Chicago, Sept. 26.—Wholesale dismissal of hundreds of policemen and the indictment of many loomed today as the probably outcome of Chief Fitzmorris' drive to divorce the police department from the illicit liquor traffic. Federal District Attorney Cline was to present to the Chief today evidence gathered by federal agents which involves members of the police department.

Fitzmorris has promised the dismissal of all officers against whom evidence is presented. He recently declared that in his belief, "half of the city's 5,00 policemen were bootleggers plying their illicit liquor operations much more industriously than they watched over the city."

COUNTY'S EXHIBITS WON FIVE PRIZES

FRANKLIN DOWDEN'S STEPLADDER CHAIR TAKES TWO FIRSTS

IS EXCELLENT SHOWING

Exhibit Competed With Whole State —Contained Fewer Pieces Than Counties Close to Sedalia

Nodaway County School children won prizes in five classes of exhibits at the Missouri State Fair, according to an official announcement received Saturday from the Fair authorities. Nodaway County's exhibit was small compared to many other counties which were closer to Sedalia, and it made a fine showing, considering the fact that Nodaway County had to compete against the whole state in this work.

The exhibit was not unpacked until the official announcement was received Saturday. The pieces will now be returned to the boys and girls who made them.

A combination chair and step ladder made by Franklin Dowden of the Myrtle Tree School, of which Miss Loraine Hathaway was teacher, attracted much attention from those who visited the Educational Building where the school exhibits were housed. It won first prize of $4 for best piece of woodwork for household use, and also first place for best exhibit of handwork for boys and girls. The prize in this class was also $4.

The Nodaway County exhibit of knife racks won third prize for best exhibit of woodwork on more than one piece. The racks were made by Robert Porter and other pupils of the Herron School, taught by Miss Mary Sawyer. The prize was $2.

A kitchen dolly made by Edgar Ditamore of the Friar school, Gertrude Horton, teacher, and five other pieces of woodwork won the first prize of $8 on best exhibit of woodwork on six pieces of woodwork.

The collection of native woods made by Edna Irwin of the North Grove school, taught by Mrs. D. L. May, won the second prize for best collection of native woods with twenty or more specimens of uniform size. The prize was $4.00.

The heaviest loss $50,540,000 fell on cattle. Their total valuation in 1921 being placed at $107,432,000.

The second heaviest loss was on hogs. There are 4,047,000 hogs in the state. Their valuation dropped $26,515,000. The total valuation in 1921 being $44,517,000.

Produce Review by Swift & Co.

Although less cream has been received at the creameries, the market it not quite so firm, due to a large quantity of under-scoring butter reaching the market. Considerable butter of the finer qualities is being withdrawn from storage to meet the demand for top quality.

Two shipments of Danish butter are reported, one small one and the second a larger shipment. Danish butter is usually of very fine quality. Better care of the cream on the farm and more frequent marketing will tend greatly to improve the quality of the American product.

Egg receipts are lighter, which is natural at this season, and there has been an advance in the paying prices throughout producing sections.

Receipts of poultry have been ample for current requirements, and the market is closing a little easier. It is reported there is a large crop of chickens in the country and even marketing is advisable.

When scrubbing boards use cold water. It does not sink into the boards so quickly as hot water; it dries more quickly, and it removes the stains more satisfactorily.

Ladybirds are being imported into certain American States from China to fight a disease which is attacking fruit trees.

If a cloth is placed over a basin of freshly-made starch there will be no skin on the top, as is the case when it is left to cool uncovered.

One ton of coal yields 10,000 feet of gas.

To Build Great Student Memorial at Columbia

The University of Missouri will not be outdone by similar institutions in other states in the erection of a memorial to those students and alumni who died in the World War. More than three-fifths of the money is already pledged by students and alumni to build the half-million dollar Missouri Memorial Union Building at Columbia.

A great impetus has been added to the memorial campaign this week by a rush of subscriptions from residents of Columbia and Boone County.

"It is safe to predict," said Dean F. B. Mumford of the Missouri College of Agriculture in addressing a Boone County mass meeting, "that all automobile route books of the future will list the Missouri Memorial Union Building as one of the notable sights of Missouri. No American Baedecker will be complete that does not direct the tourist to this great Memorial occupying a central position in one of the most beautiful university campuses in America. This building with its central tower and its twin community houses for University men and women will be the most magnificent building in Columbia."

INSURANCE IN MISSOURI

The following is from the St. Louis Globe Democrat:

During the regular session of the Missouri Legislature last winter a bill was passed by the House of Representatives giving the State Insurance Commissioner power to revoke the licenses of insurance companies incorporated in other states when the states in which they are incorporated do not "adequately provide" for the licensing of insurance companies incorporated in Missouri. This bill proposed to put into the hands of the Insurance Commissioner a discretionary authority over outside insurance companies doing business in Missouri to be used as an instrument of retaliation against states without regard to the merits or the legitimate claims for support of the foreign companies themselves, and it was so manifestly against proper public policy that it was defeated in the Senate. Nevertheless the bill was strongly supported, and it was evident that there were powerful influences back of it. We do not know what Gov. Hyde's attitude was toward this bill, but at the time the measure was before the Legislature certain Missouri insurance interests that were said to be responsible for it were pressing for the appointment of a Kansas City man, Mr. Boley, to the office of Insurance Commissioner, and this man was supported by Benj. C. Hyde, the Governor's brother. The Governor has declined to appoint this candidate, but he has announced his intention to give the office to Benj. C. Hyde, and at the same time has declared his intention to lower insurance rates in Missouri and to develop insurance companies in this state owned by Missourians.

Setting aside the act of nepotism in the appointment of his brother, which in itself justifies public criticism, the appointment of Benj. C. Hyde is objectionable because his name has been constantly associated with the fight for the appointment of Boley, who has been regarded as the particular candidate of the Missouri insurance interests opposed to the outside companies. Mr. Hyde may be entirely free from any relation to these interests, but in the circumstances he cannot fail to be considered their partisan. The office of Insurance Commissioner should be filled by a man who is without bias and who can be depended upon to deal justly and impartially with all the insurance companies of the state that are complying with the laws. The ability and the character of Benj. C Hyde are not in question, but if he is appointed he will go into office handicapped by a lack of confidence in the fairness of his disposition towards the outside insurance interests.

And this feeling is strengthened if not wholly justified by the declaration of Gov. Hyde, who couples his statement that it is his duty to secure fair insurance rates to the people of Missouri with the further statement that it is also his duty to develop insurance companies in Missouri owned by Missourians. Both of these purposes are laudable and would warrant no criticism were it not for the circumstances from which they arise. Whether insurance rates are too high is a question that cannot be fairly determined by an offhand statement of receipts and losses, such as Gov. Hyde has made. Insurance rates, we believe, are practically uniform throughout the country, are based upon statistical information covering many years' experience, and are claimed to be in general as low as consistent with security to the insured. Fire insurance rates, to be sure, vary considerably according to local conditions affecting the risk. But if all or any of these rates are too high any effort to lower them should apply to every insurance company doing business in the state, whether domestic or foreign, and if applied to Missouri companies, whose rates are said to be as high as others, it would hardly contribute to their development. No one for a moment would put a straw in the way of the proper growth of Missouri companies. All would be glad to see them progress and prosper; but in a matter so essential to the welfare of the people of the state as adequate insurance facilities with adequate security for the prompt payment of losses, it would be a mistaken policy to discourage outside companies, whose presence and operation in the state are absolutely necessary to the state and of continuous benefit to it, in order to foster domestic insurance interests by discriminatory rules or laws. There is plenty of room and opportunity in Missouri for the development of local insurance companies, as the growth and prosperity of many of them testify. All that can be properly desired by any of them, domestic or foreign, is a fair deal and an equal chance, and to that all of them are entitled.

THE RAILROADS AND THE FARMERS.

The railroads now enjoying the highest passenger and freight rates since their development, are making desperate efforts to show that they cannot reduce rates. The government seems to be backing them in their contention.

The prosperity of the railroads and of every other business institution depends largely upon the prosperity of the farmers—the producers of food stuffs necessary to the life of the nation. It is now taking several times as many bushels of wheat or corn to buy a piece of machinery needed on the farm as it did prior to the war. Farm products, in the main, are at rock bottom. The farmer can't raise enough stuff to continue to do business with the balance of the country unless some of the things he has to buy begin to come down.

If the farmer insists on getting a dollar a bushel for his corn for instance, when the price is but fifty cents a bushel, it will rot in the field and he will do no business. The railroad companies are bringing about the same sort of a condition without apparently realizing it. If they continue to exact so much for transportation that the people can not produce enough to buy goods that must absorb the transportation costs there will be a smaller amount of goods hauled. There is a certain charge that can be absorbed in selling prices but when these prices are beyond the ability of the people to pay, the saturation point has been reached and all business must stand the consequences.

A Nebraska farmer complains that before the war he could buy a good wagon with 200 bushels of corn whereas it now takes 650 bushels. The manufacturer replies that in the case of wagons, they were sold sometimes below cost before the war, that the constant depletion of the forests have resulted in making desirable timber scarcer and higher and that, of course wages and manufacturing costs are higher and then he discusses the increase in cost resulting directly from the increase in transportation.

Prior to the war, the freight rate on farm wagons from Moline, Illinois to Culberson, Nebraska, was $1.37 per hundred. Now it is $2.32 including the war tax. The wagon weighs 1200 pounds and this difference in transportation makes a difference of $11.40 in this one item alone. The increase in the cost of the transportation on the raw materials that go to the factory add even a larger percent to the manufacturer's cost. Then, look at it from the other side. In 1914, the freight on the farmer's corn from Culberson to Chicago was 24½ cents or approximately 14 cents a bushel. Today, with the war tax included, it is 47 cents a bushel. The producer therefore pays about twelve cents more per bushel to deliver his corn. This means that on his 650 bushels of corn that he gives in exchange for his wagon, he pays the railroads $78 more in transportation on the corn which added to the $11.40 more on the wagon itself makes a total difference of $89.40.

This statement is, of course, based on the cost between Moline and Nebraska points which is more than to this part of Missouri but it shows how largely transportation charges enter into selling prices.

The figures on a gang plow are given by the manufacturer as follows:

The cost of transportation of the material required to make a ton of steel, in 1914, was $7.19; in 1921, $15.17 an increase of $7.98, or 111 per cent.

The cost of transporting a ton of steel from Pittsburg to Moline in 1914 was $4.60; today it is $9.80, an increase of $5.20, or 113 per cent.

The cost of transporting a ton of implements from Moline to the Missouri river was $4.50 in 1914 and is $8.45 today, an increase of $3.95, or 90 per cent.

The cost of transporting a bushel of corn from the Missouri river to Chicago was 8 1-4 cents in 1914; it is 15 7-8 cents today, an increase of 92 per cent.

A gang plow weighs 746 pounds and sell to the farmer at the Missouri river for $139.50. At the present price of corn (60c a bushel at Chicago) it requires 232½ bushels of that commodity to pay for a gang plow at the above price.

Taking the above figures as a basis, we find the following increased cost of transportation to the farmer in the purchase of a gang plow:

Increase on raw material	$2.98
Increase on steel and material	5.82
Increase on finished plow	1.47
Increased freight on 232½ bushels of corn	17.73
Total	$28.00

COUNTY HAS GOOD LEAD IN CONTEST

OFFICIAL REPORT SHOWS 73 SCRUB BULLS REPLACED HERE

19 AHEAD OF JOHNSON

Fall Sales Will Give Nodaway Another Boost in Race for $1,000 Prize.

At the end of the first eight months of the Missouri Better Bulls contest, Nodaway County is well in the lead with seventy-three scrubs replaced by purebreds. Johnson County, the next closest competitor, has reported only fifty-four scrubs replaced. The figures are contained in the official report of replacements by counties as announced by H. M. Garlock of the Missouri College of Agriculture.

R. A. Kinnaird, county farm agent, has several more replacements to report when he has secured the necessary signatures and affidavits. These reports will put Nodaway County still farther in the lead for the $1,000 first prize, provided that none of the other counties are holding back for a last minute finish. The series of purebred sales to be held next month by the Shorthorn Breeders' Association will undoubtedly result in other scrubs being replaced.

The official report for August is as follows:

Nodaway, 73; Johnson, 54; Cole, 31; Grundy, 26; Gentry, 18; Caldwell, 16; Carroll, 15; Andrew, 14; Linn, 10; Stoddard, 8; Greene, 7; Clinton, 6; Ripley, 6; St. Charles, 5; Madison, 4; Shelby, 4; Clay, 3; Lincoln, 3; Jasper, 2; Knox, 2; Lawrence, 2.

GETS 20 YEARS FOR REA BANK ROBBERY

LeRoy Smith, Alias Earl Lavellere, Convicted by Jury at Savannah Saturday.

LeRoy Smith, alias Earl Lavallere, was sentenced to twenty years in the state penitentiary in Savannah Saturday afternoon for the robbery of the Farmers State Bank at Rea on May 15, last. The verdict was returned at 4:20 o'clock after about an hour's deliberation by the jury.

Following the jury's verdict, R. B. Bridgeman of Oregon and K. D. Cross of Savannah, attorneys for Smith, filed a motion for a new trial and an arrest.

The motion for a new trial was overruled and an appeal was granted to the supreme court. Lavallere was taken to the penitentiary at Jefferson City and will remain there pending his appeal.

The jury comprised J. C. Thorburn, Pleas Lightle, F. L. Watts, John McGee, Jacob Wall, Everett Smith, Orval Lamar, Joe Vaughn, W. G. Vaughn, Clarence Cramer, George Cole and Peter Lance.

The state was represented by Stephen Fee, prosecuting attorney of Andrew county, Grover C. Sparks, and C. F. McCaffrey, prosecuting attorney of Nodaway county.

The taking of testimony began Saturday morning and was concluded shortly before noon. The defense relied entirely on alibi testimony. William E Page, proprietor of an automobile livery in Kansas City and John Fitzgerald, William Young and a man by the name of Williams testified that Smith was in Kansas City at the time of the robbery. Fitzgerald, Young and Williams are employes of Page. One of the witnesses for the state was sure that Williams was with Smith at the time of the robbery at Rea.

Benton Van Horn, cashier of the bank at Rea, Mrs. Van Horn, their daughter, Stella, E. P. Evans, sheriff of Andrew county, Andrew L. Case, proprietor of the Case hotel at Rea, and C. P. Blanchard, a farmer who lives near Rosendale, were witnesses for the prosecution.

Van Horn testified that about noon on March 15, Smith and two companions entered the bank, held him up, bound him and escaped with $484. Van Horn testified that three days later he recognized the voice of a man in a drug store at Rea as being one of the men in the holdup gang and identified Smith. Mrs. Van Horn testified she had become suspicious of four men whom she had seen drive up to the bank the day of the robbery. She said she had started for the bank when she saw one of the men scooping up the money. She then ran to a nearby store and gave the alarm, but the robbers made good their escape. She identified Smith as one of the men in the car.

Case testified that Smith and a woman were at his hotel on the day of the robbery. Blanchard testified that he gave Smith and a woman directions by which they could drive to Rosendale the night before Smith was arrested. Sheriff Evans told of Smith's escape from the county jail on August 3 and of his capture at Kansas City.

SPEAKS TO STUDENTS OF HIGH SCHOOL AND COLLEGE

Carl Baer Tells of Responsibilities Facing Those in Training For Leadership

Carl Baer, head of the development service bureau of the St. Louis Chamber of Commerce, arrived in Maryville this morning for his series of three talks here. He spoke at the State Teachers College this morning, at the High School this afternoon, and will give an address at the Chamber of Commerce Luncheon at the Bainum Hotel tonight.

The visitor was the guest of the Chamber of Commerce at luncheon at the Linville Hotel today at noon, when he spoke very highly of the work being done here along the line of community development.

The vital message that Baer gave to the students of the State Teachers College was the fact that they were to become teachers and community leaders in the future. He stated that they were among the selected few of the country who were receiving higher education to fit them for the responsibilities of community leadership and urged them to accept the tasks that come with leadership.

"The National problems," continued Mr. Baer, "must be solved in individual communities and it will be up to the teachers of the community to direct the thoughts and efforts of the communities along the proper lines."

"Personal service," he added, "is rent for the space a man or woman occupies in this world."

Mr. Baer also asserted that the rural life of the country is the life blood of the nation and education in rural districts the most important problem to deal with at the present time. He gave President Lamkin great credit for the wonderful construction work in education that started in Missouri while he was state superintendent of schools.

At the High School, cooperation was the keynote of Mr. Baer's address. He pointed out that only one out of every twenty-three in the United States receive a high school education, and that this one is the natural leader of the other twenty-two. He presented a series of diagrams showing what he calls the "Nation's Balance Wheel of Progress," explaining the function and importance of each of its five spokes: civics, raw production, manufacturing production, commerce and transportation.

Keeping in Step With The Times

IN 1910 the consumption of gasoline in the United States approximated seven hundred and fifty million gallons. In 1920 the consumption of gasoline was well over four billion gallons.

This tremendous increase in demand came with a spectacular suddenness which strained the resources of the petroleum industry.

To meet it the Burton process was developed in the laboratories of the Standard Oil Company (Indiana).

While no claim is made that the Burton process is wholly responsible for the increased efficiency of refining practices, the fact remains that without it the tremendous increase of gasoline from crude oil would have been impossible.

In 1910 the average recovery of gasoline from the crudes of the United States was approximately 11 percent; in 1920 this average had been increased to upwards of 30 percent.

While this Company was producing gasoline in sufficient quantities to meet the ever-increasing demand upon its facilities, it also was confronted with the necessity of finding a market for the vast number of products made from that part of the petroleum which could not be converted into gasoline.

New uses for these by-products had to be found or created if gasoline were to be relieved of more than its just share of the cost of refining, thereby keeping the price of this fuel within the reach of all.

It required all the knowledge, experience, skill, resourcefulness, ingenuity and technical ability which the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) could bring into play.

The Company has a just pride in its success in finding added fields of usefulness for old by-products, as well as for having developed new by-products of use and value.

Thus does the faithfulness of a big institution, fortified by science, ability and a will to be truly useful, function to the advantage of all.
